

中国农业科学院蜜蜂研究所

Two Postdoctoral Positions in Population Genetics at Bee Institute of Chinese Academy of Agricultural Sciences, Beijing, China

Two postdoctoral positions are available in the Genetics and Breeding Department of the Bee Institute of Chinese Academy of Agricultural Sciences, Beijing, China.

The project focuses on population genetics and marker-assisted breeding of honeybees, Apis mellifera and Apis cerana, it is for 2 years with possibility of extending.

We are looking for a highly motivated and independent researcher with a Ph.D degree in the relevant field, and experience in the design and implementation of both laboratory and field experiments, as well as knowledge of bioinformatics are preferred. Working language is English or Chinese.

To apply, please send letter of motivation including research interests, a C.V., and contact details for three references to shiwei@caas.cn. The position is open until filled, but for review of applications will start on late August 2013.

For further detailed information please contact:

Dr. Shi Wei
Bee institute of
Chinese Academy of Agricultural Sciences(CAAS)
Xiang Shan, Beijing 100093, China
Tel: +86-(0)10-62599935
e-mail:shiwei@caas.cn
